

Worship Service Theme: Father's Day

Helpful Elements:

Green table covering (Ordinary Time)

Welcome: Welcome! It's so good to be together to celebrate faith and community today. My name is ____ and I'll be leading our worship time.

Happy Father's Day (today or coming up)! Who here is the child of a father? (Everyone!) In addition, who here has cared for children or been a father figure for someone during his life? We celebrate you today, and we make this a day of remembrance for our own family, our role in the family of God, and God as our heavenly Father.

Please pray with me as we open our time together.

Opening Prayer: Great and loving God, we ask your Holy Spirit to bless our time together and to refresh us with your presence. In the midst of a world full of trouble and strife, we thank you for watching over us, guiding us, and as we confess our sins, for forgiving us. Enable us to enter your presence joyfully and reverently, and let us depart today with the assurance that our sins are forgiven. Fill us, O God, with the peace which passes understanding. Amen.

Opening Hymn: Doxology

Statement of Faith: Let us affirm our statement of faith by reciting Psalm 23, The Lord is my shepherd, together:

<sup>2</sup>He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters.

<sup>3</sup>He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

<sup>4</sup>Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil:
for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

<sup>5</sup>Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

<sup>6</sup>Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

Suggested Hymns:

For the Beauty of the Earth

Savior, Like a Shepherd Lead Us

Amazing Grace

First reading: Proverbs 6:20-22

My son, keep your father's commandment, and forsake not your mother's teaching.

<sup>21</sup> Bind them on your heart always;
tie them around your neck.

<sup>22</sup> When you walk, they will lead you;
when you lie down, they will watch over you;
and when you awake, they will talk with you.

Proverbs 23: 23, 24, 26

Listen to your father who gave you life, and do not forget your mother when she is old. ...

<sup>24</sup> The father of the righteous will greatly rejoice;
he who fathers a wise son will be glad in him. ...

<sup>26</sup> My son, give me your heart,
and let your eyes observe my ways.

This is the word of the Lord; thanks be to God.

Holy, Holy, Holy

Jesus Loves Me

Second reading: Matthew 7:7-11

Jesus said: <sup>7</sup>“Ask, and it will be given to you; seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you. <sup>8</sup>For everyone who asks receives, and the one who seeks finds, and to the one who knocks it will be opened. <sup>9</sup>Which one of you, if his son asks him for bread, will give him a stone? <sup>10</sup>Or if he asks for a fish, will give him a serpent? <sup>11</sup>If you then, who are evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father who is in heaven give good things to those who ask.”

This is the word of the Lord; thanks be to God.

Interactive Homily: Let’s talk more about fathers and what they mean to us.

- What are some words you’d use to describe your father? It’s true, of course, that some fathers aren’t so great, and no father is perfect. But today, think about someone who acted like a good father in your life, such as an uncle, grandfather, friend, a friend’s father, older brother, teacher, pastor, or counselor. What was that person like? List some qualities of a good father.
  - Strength, integrity, care, providing for family, discipline, love
- What did your father do for work? Around your home? In your community?
- What sorts of things did your father or father figure teach you?
  - Specific skills
  - Values for life
- Did your dad or father figure ever tell you no? Why do fathers sometimes say no?
  - A good father says no to a child when saying yes would not serve the child well. (For example, what if a 10-year-old asked you for the car keys to take a spin?)
- Now let’s think about God. How do we typically talk about God—what do we call him?
  - Think of the Lord’s prayer, the way Jesus taught his followers to pray; how does it start? “Our Father...”
- What is God the Father like?

- God is close to us, intimate. Jesus calls the Father “Abba,” an Aramaic word that means “Daddy.” How is the word “daddy” different than “father”?
  - Close, intimate relationship; childlike trust
- God is good. Remember what our gospel reading said:
  - “If earthly fathers give their kids good things, how much more will your heavenly Father?”
- As God’s children, how should we approach our heavenly Father? (repeat last part of v. 11)
  - Ask for what we need.
  - Draw near in trust that God will give you all good things—even when sometimes the answer is no.

... Let’s take a moment to silently pray and reflect on blessing of fathers.

(Silent Prayer) ... Lord, hear our prayers. Now let us pray the Lord’s prayer together:

Lord’s Prayer: Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread, and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For thine is the kingdom, the power, and the glory forever, Amen.

Third Reading: Lighthearted Stories about Fathers 😊 (from Reader’s Digest)

On a brutally hot day I walked past a miniature golf course and saw a dad following three small children from hole to hole. “Who’s winning?” I shouted. “I am,” said one kid. “Me,” said another. “No, me,” yelled the third. Sweat dripping down his face, the dad gasped, “Their mother is.”

In the frozen-foods department of our local grocery store, I saw a man shopping with his son. As I walked by, the dad checked something off his list, then whispered conspiratorially to his son, “You know, if we really mess this up, we’ll never have to do it again.”

Our family sheltered in the basement after hearing a tornado warning. My husband told everyone to stay put while he got his cell phone from the car, in case the phone lines went dead. He didn’t return for the longest time, so I went looking for him. I was upstairs calling his name, when I heard our phone machine click on. “Hi,” a voice said. “This is Dad. I’m locked out of the house.”

After my second year in medical school, I moved back home. One night I was up late studying for my clinical exam. Because my father woke me every morning at seven, I put a note on my door: “DO NOT DISTURB. Studying until 3 a.m.” Dad, a doctor himself, showed no sympathy. He left a note attached to mine: “The hotel management hopes you’re enjoying your stay. We’d like to remind you that checkout was at noon—approximately six years ago.”

The family was viewing old slides and one flashed on the screen that caught everyone’s attention. My father, wearing his favorite golf shirt, was holding me at the tender age of three weeks. The look on his face told all. “There’s my prize possession,” my father said. Touched, I smiled at him ... until he continued, “I wonder whatever happened to that golf shirt?”

Fourth Reading: Dad’s Hands<sup>1</sup> by Melinda Clements

This is an essay about a dad and his daughter.

“Have you ever looked at your hands?” a dad asked his daughter. “I mean really looked at your hands?”

“Stop and think for a moment about the hands you have, how they have served you well throughout your years. My hands, though wrinkled and weak, have been the tools I have used all my life to reach out and grab and embrace life.

“My hands braced and caught my fall when as a toddler I crashed upon the floor. My hands put food in my mouth and clothes on my back. As a child, my mother taught me to fold my hands in prayer. These hands tied my shoes and pulled on my boots. These hands dried the tears of my children and caressed the love of my life. These hands wiped my tears when my son went off to war.

“These hands have been dirty, scraped and raw, swollen and bent. They were uneasy and clumsy when I tried to hold my newborn daughter. Decorated with my wedding band, my hand showed the world that I was married and loved someone special.

“My hands have been sticky and wet, bent and broken, dried and raw. And to this day when not much of anything else on me works very well, these hands hold me up, lay me down, and again continue to fold in prayer. These hands are the mark of where I’ve been and the ruggedness of my life.

“But more importantly, it will be these hands that God will reach out and take when He leads me home.”

Closing Blessing: (Strike bell as you say the word “Lord”)

The Lord bless you and keep you; the Lord make his face shine upon you, and be gracious unto you; the Lord lift up his countenance upon you, and grant you peace. In the name of the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Spirit. Amen.

Closing Hymn: Doxology (Reprise)

Extra material:

When my dad died when I was 9, I was raised by my mother, giving rise to the question, “What do fathers do?” As far as I could see, fathers brought around the car when it rained so everyone else could stay dry.

It wasn’t until my husband and I had children that I was able to observe firsthand what a father contributed to a child’s life.

What did I see a father do?

If I had to tell someone’s son what a father really does that is important, it would be that a father shows up for the job in good times and bad times. A father is a man who is constantly being observed by his children. The children learn from their father how to handle hardship, anger, disappointment and success.

A father won't laugh at his kids' dreams no matter how impossible they might seem. A father will dig out at 1 a.m. when one of his children runs out of gas. A father will make unpopular decisions and stand by them. When a father is wrong and makes a mistake, he will admit it. The father sets the tone for how family members treat one another, members of the opposite sex, and people who are different than they are. By example, a father can instill a desire to give something back to the community when its needs are greater than theirs.

But mostly, a good father involves himself in his kids' lives. The more responsibility a father has for a child, the harder it is to walk out of the child's life. A father has the potential to be a powerful force in the life of a child. If you have this chance, grab it! Maybe you'll get a greeting card for your efforts. Maybe not. But it's steady work.
